Caring for Our Animal Friends

Animals are our true friends. Friendship between animals and humans is always lasting and trusting. Just as humans have emotions, sorrows, and pain, animals also have them. Therefore, make them your friend. Once you make them a friend, they will maintain it truly. Throughout history, humans and animals have performed unique and meaningful relationship. Animals build trust, loyalty and mutual respect. Animals provide emotional support to humans. Stray animals also need help. We can give them food or call an animal shelter if they are hurt. We should never tease or hurt animals. Some people throw stones at dogs and disturb birds, which is very wrong. Giving water to birds in summer is a symbol of kindness. If we show love to animals, they love us back. Always remember that animals are our friends and they deserve care and respect.

One Good Deed I Did

One sunny afternoon, I was playing in the park. I saw an old grandma sitting on a bench. She had many heavy bags. She looked tired and could not walk fast. I ran to her. "Dadi, can I help?" I asked with a smile. She said – "Yes." I picked up her bag and walked with her to her home. When we reached, she gave me a sweet and hugged me. Thank you, beta! you are a good girl," she said. I felt very happy. My heart danced with joy. That day, I learned that helping others is easy. One good deed makes someone smile. Now, I always look for ways to help. Try it, you will love it too!

Say No to Plastic

Plastic is a man-made material. It is used to make everyday items such as bottles, bags and toys. Plastic is created from chemicals derived from crude oil. Factories heat and mold these chemicals to produce various types of plastics. Unfortunately, plastic does not decompose easily. It can be remained the environment for 100 years. Excessive use of plastic leads to pollution of land, water and air. When burnt, plastic releases toxic gases that are harmful to both humans and the environment. Therefore, we should say "No to plastic" and choose alternatives like paper and cloth. Reducing plastic use helps protect our planet and keep it clean.

The Power of Helping Others

Be a helping hand, when we give a hand to someone in need, we're being a superhuman of kindness. Sharing a smile or positive words can make someone's day or make them feel good or happy. In sports or a game, when we help each other, we create a bond that always makes things better. Always take care of a friend who feels low, as it shows we care for them and it makes them feel better. Always show kindness to those who need the most, with it we can make the world a better place to live. We should teach our children that helping others is so important in today's world. In today's world, where moral values are down, be a problem solver, not a creator for others. We can become superheroes in real life by helping others. We should always uplift the moral of friends who need it the most during bad times. By helping someone, we create a friendly environment in our lives, which is so important in today's world.

Helping others is a way to show compassion. When you help, you make the world brighter. Even small acts of help can have a big impact. Helping others makes us feel connected. Offering help is a way to give back to the community. Helping others teaches us empathy. When we help, we become better people. Helping is a way to show gratitude. Helping others can inspire them to help too. Helping others is a noble and rewarding act.

A Small Act of Kindness

One day, I was walking home from school. I saw a kitten stuck in a tree. It was meowing loudly and looked scared. I wanted to help it, so I went near the tree. I called my father to bring a ladder. Together, we slowly lifted the kitten down. The kitten was very happy and ran around. I gave it milk to drink. I felt proud of myself for helping. Helping someone made me feel warm inside. It was a very kind thing to do. The kitten's owner also thanked me. I realized that even small deeds can make a big difference. I promised myself to always help those in need. I learned that kindness is very important. I felt happy that I made someone, even a little kitten, safe.

Helping Hands, Happy Hearts

One day, I did a good deed that made me very happy. On my way to school, I saw a poor old lady sitting on the roadside. She looked tired and hungry. I felt sad to see her in that condition. I gave her the lunch that my mother had packed for me. She smiled and thanked me with happiness. I also gave her some water to drink. Then I helped her cross the road safely. I felt proud to have helped someone in need. My teacher always tells us to be kind to others. This good deed taught me the value of helping people. It made my heart feel light and joyful. I will always try to help others whenever I can. Doing good deeds makes the world a better place.

Be Kind, Be Helpful

Helping others is one of the most rewarding things a person can do. When we offer our time, energy or even a simple smile to someone in need, we create a positive impact that goes far beyond that single moment.

Helping others is a very good habit. It makes us kind and caring. When we help someone, we feel happy inside. Sharing things is also helping others. Helping sick people shows kindness. We can help our parents at home. We can help our teachers at school. Helping the poor is a good deed. We should respect and help elders. We should be polite to everyone. Helping others build strong friendships. It makes the world a better place.

Helping others teaches us good values. A helpful person is loved by all. We should help others every day. God is happy when we help others.

A Good Deed That Touched My Heart

I am Heyansh Patel, a kind boy. Usually, I stay excited about my birthday, but last birthday my Nani suggested donating something to needy people from my own piggy bank. I was quite hesitant to use my treasure, but somehow, I was convinced and used my 500 rupees to purchase cream biscuits. As soon as I took out my bag from the car, small children circled me. This made me realize that to them, these biscuits were no less than a fancy cake. Their happiness was far better than my gifts. Since then, I have been donating something to needy people on my birthday.

Helping Makes the World Better

Helping others is one of the best habits we can learn. It means doing something kind for someone who needs our support. When we help someone, it makes them feel happy and cared for. It also gives us a very joyful and peaceful feeling inside.

In school, we can help our friends by sharing our stationery or snacks. If a classmate is confused, we can help them understand a lesson. At home, we should help our parents by keeping our toys and books in place. We can help our grandparents by bringing them a glass of water or finding their glasses.

Helping others teaches us to be humble and unselfish. We should help others without expecting any gift or reward in return. Great leaders like Mahatma Gandhi taught us that serving others is the greatest work. A small act of kindness can make a big difference in someone's day.

Helping can be as simple as holding the door open for someone. We should always try to help elderly people cross the road safely.

Helping makes the world a much better and friendlier place to live. We should make it a goal to do at least one good deed every day. Helping others makes us truly good and wonderful human beings.

Reducing Plastic Pollution

Plastic is everywhere! It is in our toys, our lunchboxes and even in our water bottles. It is very cheap and strong, which is why people use it too much, but plastic is harmful to us and our environment. Plastic doesn't decompose; every part of plastic ever produced remains on earth in some way. Over time, larger plastic breaks into microplastics that can enter the food chain, water and even air! Posing long term health risk. Burning plastic can release toxic fumes, causing severe air pollution which leads to various health issues. We can reduce the use of plastic by: -

1. Instead of plastic bags, we can use cloth or jute bag.
2. Practice 3 R'S Reduce, Reuse and Recycle
3. Choose products with minimum packaging or those that are easier to recycle or reuse

We should reduce the use of plastic, as small changes lead to big rescues.

Be a Helpful Person

Helping others is a very special thing to do. It is a way to show love and care to everyone around you. Being helpful makes the world a better place for all of us. Anyone can be a helper if they have a kind heart. We should look for ways to be useful every single day.

Helping others always teaches us the importance of teamwork. It is a wonderful habit that everyone should try to learn. You do not need anything special or expensive to be helpful; even a tiny bit of help can go a very long way. The more we help, the happier our community becomes. Let's all start being helpful to everyone around us today!

Small Acts, Big Difference

Helping others is a deed that not only satisfies others' needs but also satisfies our souls from deep inside. Lending a hand to the needy expresses your kindness. This piece of kindness can never be measured as it is never small or big. Being small kids, we should first learn and practice helping others at home, like helping grandparents with their small work, and parents with their household chores. Keeping your books, clothes and toys to distribute to the needy ones is also a part of this gesture of love. Celebrating your special day with people who rarely celebrate festivals is also a way to express love. Being a small part of a huge universe, I request all of you to start practising kindness. You will start feeling proud of yourself.

Our Loyal Animal Companions

Animals are our friends because they share the earth with us. They help maintain balance in nature. Many animals help us in our daily routine. Dogs guard our homes and keep us safe. Cats control pests like rats and mice. Cows, goats and buffalo give us milk. Horses and camels help in transportation in some areas. Animals provide food, wool, and leather for humans. They support farmers in agriculture. Animals show loyalty and honesty. Pets reduce loneliness and stress. Playing with animals makes people happy. Animals teach us kindness and responsibility. They never judge humans. Animals help children learn empathy. Many animals help people with disabilities. Birds spread seeds and help plants grow. Bees help in the pollination of crops. Animals protect forests and ecosystems. They communicate love through actions. Animals depend on humans for care and safety. We should protect animals from cruelty. Treating animals well makes the world better. Animals are a gift from nature. Therefore, animals are truly our friends.

Kindness That Made Me Happy

My parents taught me that “kindness is like a light; when you share it, the whole room gets brighter”. So, I always try to do something kind and help needy people. I always give my old toys, clothes, books, bags, and shoes to poor people. I remember one of most good deed that once upon a time, my friends and I participated in a skating inter house competition at my school. During the competition, I completed one lap in first position, and I was going to finish in a winning position, but at the last moment, my friend Shaurya tried to overtake me, but he fell down and got hurt. So without any hesitation about whether I would win or not, I helped Shaurya's hand and helped him to stand up. Then we went to the infirmary room. My friend got emotional and thanked me. He said, “You are a great person. Even though you were about to win, you chose to help me instead of focusing on the competition.” At that moment, I felt very happy from the inside and realized that we don't need to be a superhero to do something great.

The Mantra of Freedom: Vande Mataram

Vande Mataram is the mantra of the freedom for India. It is written by Bankim Chandra Chatterjee in 1875 and published in 1882. At the time of British rule, the India was struggling.

The Indians were leaving the country by respect, until others spoke Vande Mataram and when they heard it, they became confident and brave, and they ran back towards India and fought for their country.

Vande Mataram is the mantra of freedom because when we spoke Vande Mataram that we got freedom from something. The work are good and lucky for India and its culture. These words are taken from national songs. So, India have different religions, languages, and regions. Many freedom fighters fought for us and India when they were fighting from British rule. They spoke Vande Mataram.

When I hear this, I get inspiration, courage, and patriotism. At present now, these words are not most used in songs. India got many reflections when they were fighting British rule, and then they thought fight from own. So they spoke Vande Mataram, and then they started fighting from them. Vande Mataram is not just a word. It is the word of freedom.

Louis Braille and His Great Invention

Louis Braille was a great man who helped blind people read and write. He was born in France in the year 1809. When he was very young, he met with an accident and lost his eyesight. Even though he became blind, he did not lose hope. Louis Braille studied in a special school for blind children. He wanted to make learning easy for blind people. At the age of fifteen, he invented a special reading and writing system using raised dots. This system is called the Braille system. Blind people can read by touching these dots with their fingers.

The Braille system is used all over the world today. It has helped millions of blind people get education and live independently. Louis Braille showed us that hard work and determination can overcome difficulties. Louis Braille will always be remembered for his great contribution to humanity.

The Magical Library

Libraries are usually quiet places filled with books and knowledge. But one day, I discovered that my school library was not just an ordinary place. It was the doorway to a magical adventure that I will never forget.

Once, I was walking in my school library to find the best book for me. I took out some books and kept them back on the shelf. While doing this, I suddenly found a small hidden door between two shelves. I felt scared, but I did not give up. I slowly opened the door. To my surprise, I saw a magical land. Cupcakes were hanging on trees. Pencils were flying in the air, and erasers were talking to each other. Just then, an eraser came near me. I was about to run away when I saw a giant pencil box sitting on a chair. He said, "I am the King of this Wonderland. You are welcome here. Don't worry, nobody will harm you." I was still scared and shivering, but I slowly stepped inside. After some time, I relaxed and asked their names. The eraser said, "My name is Ruby." The pencil said, "My name is Andrew." Soon, we became friends and started playing. We made paper planes and played catch with Ruby. We enjoyed a lot. Suddenly, I heard the school bell ringing loudly. I quickly ran back to my classroom and told my classmates about the wonder door. It was a wonderful trip. After that day, every time I go to the library, I check if the wonder door opens again. Now it's your turn! Go to your library and see if your Wonderland door opens too!

My Memorable Family Vacation

Vacations are special times when we take a break from our daily routine and spend happy moments with our loved ones. They help us relax, explore new places, and create memories that last forever. One such unforgettable experience for me was my family trip to Vietnam. This Diwali, I went on a fantastic trip to Vietnam with my family. It was an adventure filled with fun and unforgettable memories. We travelled by flight and then hired a taxi to reach our hotel. After checking in, we went sightseeing. My parents and younger sister were as excited as I was to explore the beautiful places. During our trip, we visited Cat Cat Village, Fansipan Mountain, the Glass Bridge, Ho Chi Minh's Mausoleum, and the One Pillar Pagoda. Later, we went to Phu Quoc, where we enjoyed VinWonders Amusement Park and VinPearl Safari. We also experienced the Hon Thom Cable Car, which is the world's longest sea cable car. After that, we travelled to Da Nang. There, we visited the famous Golden Bridge in Ba Na Hills and the Marble Mountains. We also saw the Dragon Bridge, which breathes fire and water on weekend nights. It was an amazing sight! We also visited local markets and bought beautiful handicraft items. This trip left us with wonderful memories and strengthened our bond as a family. It was truly a vacation to remember.

The Heartbeat of the Nation

Vande Mataram is a powerful and inspiring mantra from our national song. It was written by Bankim Chandra Chatterjee. It means bowing to the motherland. The song symbolizes the struggle, efforts, and pain behind the freedom of today's present India. During the British rule, Indian people were not treated nicely. They wanted freedom and wanted to live with dignity and pride.

Different people, languages, and religions came together for this. In the battle, many great, brave, and courageous freedom fighters and soldiers died. When they had lost almost everything, they used just one thing for hope and motivation. The mantra, Vande mataram. The soldiers chanted Vande matram, Vande matram. It made them feel the warmth, pride, and happiness of our country, making them feel strong.

This song teaches us values like patriotism, meaning of love, and respect for our country. Unity to stand together and courage as many soldiers sacrificed their lives for the nation. Apart from values, Vande mataram also describes India's rich, vivid, and vibrant nature. From the flowing rivers carrying pure waters to the breathtaking landscape that truly touch your heart from within.

Even today, we sing Vande mataram in schools and national festivals. Hearing it makes us feel the warmth of our country. It feels exactly like being with your loving and caring mother. We feel proud to be an Indians. Vande mataram is not just a song, but a mantra of carrying the spirit of freedom, pride, and joy.

The Voice of Our Freedom Fighters

Jai Hind!

Today, I am writing to honour our great freedom mantra, Vande Mataram. This mantra was written even before India became free from British rule. When people said Vande Mataram, it made them feel brave and strong. They understood that they were not born to be slaves and would never die as slaves. Our freedom fighters believed in a free India and did not care about their own lives. They sacrificed themselves for the freedom of our country. Vande Mataram means "I bow to my motherland." From small protests to big freedom movements, our brave warriors proudly said this mantra. It was written by Bankim Chandra Chatterjee. The song describes the beauty of India—its rivers, land, and rich culture. It shows how beautiful our country is.

We still say Vande Mataram during national festivals like Independence Day and Republic Day. This slogan was also raised during wars to encourage our soldiers. One brave officer who believed in this spirit was Flying Officer Nirmal Jit Singh Sekhon, who showed great courage for our country. Vande Mataram is not just a song. It is a symbol of India's history, bravery, and love for the nation.

A Visit to the Veer Narmad Library

Last Sunday, I visited the Veer Narmad South Gujarat University Library with my parents. It is one of the biggest and most beautiful libraries in Surat. The building was large and peaceful.

When I entered the library, I saw rows and rows of books neatly arranged on shelves. There were books on stories, science, history, and many other subjects. I felt very happy to see so many colourful and interesting books in one place.

The reading hall was very quiet. Students were sitting silently and reading with full concentration. I also took a storybook and sat down to read. The cool and calm atmosphere helped me to focus better.

The librarian was kind and helpful. She showed us the children's section and explained how books are arranged properly. I learned that libraries help us to gain knowledge and improve our reading habits.

My visit to the library was a wonderful experience. I enjoyed reading and learning new things. I hope to visit the library again soon.

The Mysterious Box

Once upon a time, there lived a boy named Rohan. He was 10 years old and lived in a small village in India. In his house, there was a small wooden box with a lock on it, but the key was missing. One day, while Rohan was playing football, he saw something glittering near his backyard. When he went closer, he found a strange box with a lock. He felt a little scared because of its unusual colours, but he was also very curious to know what was inside it.

Rohan started searching for the key everywhere in the village. While looking for it, he accidentally fell into a deep pit. The villagers gathered around and tried to help him. Rohan noticed something shining under a rock inside the pit. With great effort, he moved the rock and found the missing key.

The villagers threw a rope into the pit, and Rohan climbed out safely. He quickly ran home and opened the mysterious box.

Inside the box, he found a beautiful golden watch and some old gold coins. The watch had a magical power. Whenever Rohan wore it, he felt confident and brave.

Rohan showed the treasure to his parents. They were proud of him for being brave and smart. In the end, Rohan learned that courage and curiosity can lead to wonderful discoveries.

My Visit to a Fairyland

Last night, I had the most magical dream of my life. I visited a beautiful fairyland. It was a place full of sparkling lights, colourful flowers, and shining rivers. The sky was pink and golden, and tiny stars twinkled even during the day.

As I walked through a garden, I saw little fairies flying around with shiny wings. They wore bright dresses and crowns made of flowers. One sweet fairy came near me and smiled. She sprinkled magical fairy dust on me, and suddenly I could fly too!

The fairyland had chocolate fountains, candy trees, and butterflies that glowed like rainbows. There was a crystal palace in the middle of the land. The fairy queen welcomed me kindly and gave me a golden flower as a gift.

We danced, sang songs, and played games. I felt very happy and peaceful there. But soon, the fairy queen told me it was time to go back home. She waved her magic wand, and I slowly closed my eyes.

When I woke up, I was back in my room. Even though it was just a dream, I will never forget my magical visit to fairyland.

Guardians of the Nation: Our Brave Farmers

Farmers are the backbone of our country and the true heroes of our nation. They work tirelessly day and night to grow the food that feeds millions of people. Their lives are filled with hard work and challenges, yet they continue their duties with dedication and hope. Every morning, farmers wake up before sunrise and head to their fields. They plough the land, sow seeds, water the crops, and protect them from pests and harsh weather. Whether it is the scorching heat of summer, the cold of winter, or heavy rainfall, farmers remain committed to their work. Their patience and love for the land help crops grow healthy and strong.

Because of their efforts, we have rice, wheat, fruits, and vegetables on our plates every day. Though many farmers live simple lives, their contribution to society is priceless. They teach us important values like hard work, perseverance, and courage. The great leader Lal Bahadur Shastri once gave the powerful slogan, “Jai Jawan, Jai Kisan,” which means “Hail the Soldier, Hail the Farmer.” This slogan reminds us that farmers are as important as soldiers in building and protecting our nation.

We must always respect and support our farmers. Without them, food would not reach our homes, and life would not be the same. Truly, farmers are the guardians of our nation who feed us and make our country proud.

Trees: The Lifeline of Our Earth

Trees are the green lungs of our planet. They play a very important role in keeping our environment clean, fresh, and healthy. Without trees, life on Earth would not be possible. They provide oxygen, which is essential for all living beings. By taking in carbon dioxide and releasing oxygen, trees keep the air pure and safe for us to breathe. Trees give us many useful things in our daily lives, such as shade, fruits, flowers, wood, and medicines. They are home to countless birds, animals, and insects. Forests protect wildlife and maintain the balance of nature.

Trees also help control the temperature and bring rainfall. Their roots hold the soil firmly and prevent soil erosion during heavy rains. In cities, trees reduce dust and noise pollution, making the surroundings calmer and cleaner. They make parks, gardens, and roadsides look beautiful and peaceful. Sitting under a tree on a warm day feels cool and relaxing. Sadly, many trees are being cut down to build roads, houses, and factories. This destruction harms nature and leads to serious problems like pollution, less rainfall, and climate change. We must understand that trees are our true friends and life-givers.

Let us promise to protect trees and plant more whenever we can. Growing even one tree is a step toward a greener and brighter future.

Save Trees Today for a Better Tomorrow!

Calm Mind, Strong Heart: My True Superpower

Everyone has a special superpower that makes them unique. I believe my superpower is my ability to stay calm and solve problems. This special quality helps me shine at school, at home, and with my friends. Whenever I face a difficulty, I do not give up easily. Instead of getting angry or upset, I stay calm and think carefully about how to solve the problem. Staying cool helps me make better decisions and handle situations wisely. I believe that a peaceful mind can find the best solutions.

I also listen carefully when others speak. Because of this, my friends and family trust me and feel comfortable sharing their problems with me. I try my best to understand them and help in any way I can. This makes me a good friend and a caring family member. I may not always come first in dance, sports, or studies, but my family says that my calm nature and problem-solving ability make me special. Their words make me feel proud and confident. I am grateful that people trust me and believe in me.

I am truly happy that my superpower is the ability to stay calm, stay positive, and solve problems. This strength will always guide me and help me shine in life.

A Rainy Day Rescue

Once upon a time, there was a kind and caring girl named Rumi who loved animals very much. One evening, while she was cycling with her friends in her society, dark clouds suddenly filled the sky and it began to rain heavily. Rumi and her friends quickly ran back to their buildings to stay dry. When Rumi reached home, she was half wet. Her mother lovingly handed her a cup of hot cocoa and said, “Go change your clothes first, then drink this.” Rumi quickly changed and enjoyed the warm drink. Soon, she felt cozy and comfortable. Just then, she heard a faint “meow” coming from outside. Curious and concerned, Rumi ran to the window. In the garden below, she saw a tiny kitten, shivering in the rain and looking helpless. The poor little kitten was wet, cold, and hungry.

Without wasting a moment, Rumi put on her raincoat, picked up a soft towel, and told her mother, “Mom, there's a little kitten outside. She needs help. I'm going to rescue her.” Her mother nodded proudly. Rumi carefully went down to the garden. Gently, she spoke to the kitten, “Don't worry, little one. I won't hurt you. I'm here to help.” At first, the kitten hesitated, but soon she allowed Rumi to pick her up. Rumi wrapped her warmly in the towel and brought her home.

Her mother smiled and said, “I'm proud of you, Rumi. You were brave and kind.” They dried the kitten and gave her some warm milk. They decided to name her Whiskers. With love and care from the whole family, Whiskers soon became healthy and playful. Rumi tried to find the kitten's mother around the society, but she was nowhere to be found. Seeing Rumi's concern, her mother said, “It's alright. We can keep her as our pet.”

Rumi's face lit up with happiness. From that day on, Rumi and Whiskers became best friends, sharing love, laughter, and many joyful moments together.

Kindness to animals makes the world a warmer and happier place.

Captain Vikram Batra: A True Hero Who Inspires Me

My role model is Captain Vikram Batra, a brave officer of the Indian Army who became a symbol of courage and patriotism during the Kargil War. He was born on 9 September 1974 in Palampur, Himachal Pradesh. From a young age, he was determined to serve the nation with pride and honour.

Captain Vikram Batra played a very important role in Operation Vijay during the Kargil War. He led several successful missions, including the capture of Point 5140, which was a crucial peak for the Indian Army. His fearless leadership and bold actions helped India gain victory in difficult and dangerous conditions.

He was awarded the highest gallantry award of India, the Param Vir Chakra, for his extraordinary bravery and supreme sacrifice. During the war, his famous slogan, "Yeh Dil Maange More," became popular across the country. It showed his strong determination, courage, and never-give-up attitude. On 7 July 1999, at the young age of 24, Captain Batra sacrificed his life while saving an injured soldier. His selflessness and love for the country made him a true hero.

From Captain Vikram Batra's life, I have learned many important values such as courage, determination, leadership, selflessness, and a strong sense of duty. He teaches us to always stand up for what is right and to serve our nation with honour and bravery. Captain Vikram Batra will always remain an inspiration to me and to millions of young Indians.

Dr. A. P. J. Abdul Kalam: The Dreamer Who Taught India to Dream

My role model is A. P. J. Abdul Kalam, a great scientist and former President of India. He is lovingly known as the "Missile Man of India" because of his important contributions to India's missile and space programs. His work with organizations like Indian Space Research Organisation (ISRO) and Defence Research and Development Organisation (DRDO) helped India grow stronger in science, aerospace, and defence. Dr. Kalam was born into a humble family in Rameswaram, Tamil Nadu. Even though he faced many financial difficulties in his childhood, he never gave up on his education. With hard work, determination, and strong faith in his dreams, he achieved great success. His life teaches us that no obstacle is too big if we have courage and dedication.

What truly inspires me about Dr. Kalam is not only his achievements but also his simplicity, kindness, and love for students. He always encouraged young people to dream big. One of his famous quotes is, "Dream is not that which you see while sleeping; it is something that does not let you sleep." These powerful words motivate me to work hard for my goals. His autobiography, Wings of Fire, shares his life journey and the lessons he learned. Through his book and speeches, he taught us that education is not just about scoring marks but about gaining knowledge and becoming a better human being.

Dr. A. P. J. Abdul Kalam's life has taught me the values of perseverance, dedication, humility, and service to the nation. He showed us that true success is not only about personal achievements but also about inspiring others and helping them reach their full potential. He will always remain my greatest inspiration and a shining example of how dreams, when combined with hard work, can transform a nation.

The Mystery of the Square Footprints

Once upon a time, there lived a small boy named Raj. He was a kind-hearted, curious, and helpful child who always stood ready to help others. Raj had a sharp mind and a keen eye for details. More than anything else, he loved reading detective stories and dreamed of becoming a detective one day.

One bright and sunny Monday morning, Raj went happily to his school. The birds were chirping, and the school campus looked cheerful. But as soon as Raj entered the school gate, he heard loud cries and whispers. "Our school garden has been raided!" cried Riya in a frightened voice.

Everyone rushed towards the garden. It was a shocking sight. Many plants were broken, the soil was scattered everywhere, and a few small trees had been cut. The beautiful garden looked ruined. Just then, their class teacher, Mrs Verma, came running to see what had happened.

Raj carefully looked around the garden. Suddenly, his eyes fell on the muddy side of the ground. He noticed something unusual—square-shaped footprints. "Everyone, come here! Look at these footprints," shouted Raj. All the students gathered around in excitement and surprise.

"Footprints?" asked Mrs Verma thoughtfully. "That is very interesting." Soon, everyone felt like a detective. Mrs Verma divided the class into three groups to investigate the mystery.

The first group went to check the garden gate, but they found it perfectly fine and not broken. The second group spoke to the watchman, Ramesh Uncle. He said, "I heard some noise early in the morning and went to check, but it was very dark, and I couldn't see anyone."

The third group examined the footprints closely. "These cannot be human footprints," said Neha. "Shoes do not leave square marks." "Maybe it was a robot!" joked Kabir. Everyone laughed, but Raj and Aarav were serious. They noticed that the footprints led from the garden gate straight to the big neem tree.

"I think we should follow these footprints," said Raj confidently. Everyone agreed and followed the strange trail. The footprints led them to a dense forest near the school. There, they saw a small hut hidden behind bushes. The footprints ended at the hut.

With courage and curiosity, they entered the hut. Inside, Raj saw a small, frightened child hiding behind a box. "Don't be scared. We will not harm you," said Aarav gently. The child slowly came forward.

"Who are you?" asked Raj kindly. The child replied softly, "I live here alone." When Neha asked about the footprints, the child admitted, "I made them." He explained that he had worn cardboard shoes to hide his identity. He loved studying but was poor and had no one to help him.

The children felt sad and understood his situation. They took the child to school and told Mrs Verma everything. She spoke to the principal, who kindly allowed the boy to study in the school.

The child worked hard, studied well, and grew up to become a doctor. Everyone felt proud and happy.

Moral: We should always be kind, understanding, and helpful to others.

Living in Harmony: The Joy of Tribal Community Life

Tribal communities are groups of people who live close to nature in forests, deserts, mountains, and other natural regions around the world. Each tribe has its own unique culture, traditions, songs, dances, and festivals. These traditions are passed down from one generation to the next, keeping their heritage alive and meaningful. In tribal communities, people live together like one big family. Every tribe has a leader who guides them, but decisions are often made together. If one family faces a problem, the entire tribe comes forward to help. This strong bond of unity and cooperation brings true joy to their lives.

Tribal people believe that a simple life close to nature is better than a wealthy and modern life filled with stress. They respect trees, rivers, animals, birds, and even insects. They take only what they need from nature and protect it carefully. In return, nature provides them with fresh fruits, vegetables, clean air, water, and wood for shelter. Children in tribal communities are taught to respect elders, be honest, and help others. Elders share their wisdom and guide the younger generation. This creates a society built on love, respect, and responsibility.

One great tribal leader who inspired many people was Birsa Munda. He bravely fought against British rule to protect the rights and land of his people. His life teaches us courage, unity, and love for our culture and nature. The tribal way of life shows us that happiness does not come only from money. It comes from living together, helping one another, and caring for the environment.

When we respect nature and care for each other, we create a peaceful and joyful world.

*Curiosity:
The Spark That Makes Me Shine*

Every person has a special quality that makes them unique. My superpower is curiosity. It is the spark that helps me shine in school and in everyday life. I am always eager to ask questions and learn something new. Whether it is science, history, or the meaning of a new word, I love to explore and discover more about it. Curiosity makes learning exciting. I enjoy reading books, watching educational videos, and trying fun experiments. I always try to understand the “why” and “how” behind things. Instead of just accepting answers, I like to dig deeper and find out more.

This superpower also helps me make better decisions. If I do not understand something, I look it up or ask someone who can explain it clearly. Curiosity improves my problem-solving skills and encourages me to think differently. It helps me come up with creative ideas and see situations from new perspectives. Being curious also makes me open-minded. I love learning about different cultures, traditions, and people. It helps me become a better friend, a better classmate, and a more understanding person.

In the future, my curiosity will guide me toward success, whether I become a doctor, a writer, or choose another path. No matter what I do, this skill will always help me grow and achieve great things. Curiosity is not just my superpower — it is the light that makes me shine.

Books: Our Lifelong Friends and Teachers

Books are one of the greatest treasures in the world. Many famous personalities, such as Albert Einstein, became knowledgeable and wise through reading. Books have always been a strong support system for learners. They guide us, inspire us, and help us grow into thoughtful and confident individuals. Reading books improves our vocabulary, sharpens our thinking skills, and builds confidence in speaking and writing. Books make us diligent, active and imaginative. They can take us back in time to learn about history or transport us to magical worlds filled with adventure and wonder.

There are many kinds of books, each teaching us something different. For example, the famous Harry Potter series by J. K. Rowling introduces us to a magical world of wizards and friendship. The inspiring autobiography Wings of Fire by A. P. J. Abdul Kalam teaches us the value of hard work, determination and dreaming big. Similarly, The Blue Umbrella by Ruskin Bond beautifully shares the message of kindness and generosity. Books also help us gain knowledge in subjects like mathematics, science, business and even the stock market. Great minds like Srinivasa Ramanujan learned and discovered amazing ideas through deep study and reading. Books truly give us unlimited knowledge.

Reading regularly makes us smarter, calmer and more understanding. It shapes our personality and teaches us important values like honesty, patience and perseverance. A book is not just a bundle of pages — it is a lifelong friend and a wonderful teacher. So, let us respect books and develop the habit of reading every day. Open a book, explore its pages, and discover the endless world of knowledge waiting for you.

Trees: The Green Guardians of Our Planet

Trees are one of nature's greatest gifts to all living beings on Earth. They play a very important role in keeping our planet healthy and beautiful. Trees take in carbon dioxide and release oxygen, giving us fresh and clean air to breathe. That is why they are often called the “lungs of the Earth.” Trees provide us with many useful things that we use in our daily lives, such as fruits, paper, wood, rubber, and even medicines. They give us cool shade during the hot summer days and help keep the surroundings pleasant. In villages, people often sit under large trees to rest and enjoy the fresh air.

Trees also protect the environment. Their roots hold the soil firmly and prevent soil erosion during heavy rains. They help in bringing rainfall, which is necessary for crops to grow. Forests are home to many animals, birds, and insects. Without trees, these living creatures would lose their shelter and food. In cities, trees make parks, gardens, and roadsides look beautiful. They reduce dust, noise, and pollution, making the environment cleaner and healthier. Spending time near trees makes us feel calm, happy, and relaxed.

Sadly, many trees are being cut down to build houses, factories, and roads. This destruction of forests is called deforestation. It leads to serious problems like less rainfall, hotter weather, and loss of wildlife. Trees are our best friends and protectors. They are important for people, animals, and the entire environment. Let us promise to plant more trees and protect the ones around us.

The Night I Discovered a Time Machine

One quiet night, I was walking my dog near my house, which is close to a jungle. Suddenly, I heard a loud bang coming from deep inside the forest. I thought it might be a wild ox or even an elephant moving through the trees, so I tried not to worry and went back home. As I reached my room and opened the balcony curtains, I noticed a strange glowing light shining in the distance. It didn't look normal at all. My curiosity grew, and I decided that I would investigate it the next day.

The following evening, I packed a small bag with a flashlight, some snacks, and a water bottle. I made a plan to quietly sneak out after my parents had fallen asleep. When the time came, I tiptoed outside and followed the glowing light into the jungle. What I found there left me speechless. It was not an animal. It was not just a light. It was a Time Machine!

Excited and nervous at the same time, I stepped inside. There were instructions written on one side and three colourful buttons:

- Peppa Pig World
- California Disneyland
- Jurassic World

There was also a lever that needed to be pulled before pressing any button. I carefully pulled the lever and quickly pressed the button for Peppa Pig World. Within five seconds, I was there! Everything looked bright and cheerful. I even met Peppa Pig and her little brother George. They were kind and welcomed me into their house. We played games, and Peppa even gave me a ball as a gift before I left. I thanked them and returned to the Time Machine.

Next, I pressed the button for Disneyland Park. It was magical! I enjoyed thrilling rollercoasters, tasted delicious treats like corn hotdogs and churros, and met Mickey Mouse and Minnie Mouse. It felt like a dream come true. Finally, I gathered my courage and teleported to Jurassic World. The place was wild and dangerous. I saw giant dinosaurs roaring and even spotted a massive shark rising from a lake. My heart raced as one dinosaur began chasing me. Thinking quickly, I threw the ball Peppa had given me to distract it and ran back to the Time Machine just in time!

With a final pull of the lever, I returned safely home. I quietly slipped back into bed, my heart still pounding with excitement. It was the greatest adventure of my life—a journey through time and imagination that I will never forget.

The Secret of the Silver Forest

Isla was a nine-year-old girl who loved adventures. She was curious, brave, and always ready to explore new places. Near her house stood a mysterious forest. No one in the neighbourhood dared to enter it, but Isla often wondered what secrets it held. At night, when she couldn't sleep, she would look out of her window at the forest. She noticed thick fog, soft mist, and strange silver sparkles glowing between the trees—even during summer. Isla was sure that something magical was hidden inside.

One day, her curiosity became too strong to ignore. She packed her water bottle and quietly walked toward the forest. As she stepped closer, she heard a soft whisper in the air: “Magical forest... come and explore...”

Her heart beat faster, but she bravely walked in. After a few steps, she discovered a glowing portal. Taking a deep breath, Isla stepped through it. On the other side, she found herself in a breath-taking place. There was turquoise water, soft white sand, and colourful flowers filling the air with a sweet fragrance. The sunlight shimmered like golden beams across a sparkling cave.

Suddenly, a tiny fairy with shining wings appeared. “Who are you?” Isla asked in surprise. “I am Mira,” the fairy replied gently. “Welcome to the Magical Forest.” Before Isla could ask more questions, Mira said, “The Tree Queen has called for you.”

They flew toward a giant glowing tree. From its trunk emerged the Tree Queen, who looked graceful and powerful. “You are brave and clever, Isla,” the Queen said kindly. “We need your help. Some aliens have landed here. They need the help of a child from Earth.”

Isla nodded confidently. “I will help.” Mira led her to a clearing where small, friendly aliens were waiting. They explained that they could not solve a difficult maths formula needed to power their spaceship.

“Can you help us?” they asked. Isla smiled. Maths was one of her strengths. She quickly solved the formula in seconds. The aliens cheered with joy and thanked her for saving them. Their spaceship sparkled and flew back into the sky.

The Tree Queen blessed Isla for her kindness and intelligence. Mira waved her wand, and suddenly— Isla was back in her bedroom. She looked at the clock. Only three seconds had passed. Was it real? Or was it just a dream?

Isla smiled to herself. Whether it was magic or imagination, she knew one thing for sure — her courage and skills could help anyone, anywhere... even in a magical forest.

The Honest Choice

Once upon a time, there was a kind and honest girl named Yana. She lived in Greenfield Town and studied in Class Three at Sunshine Public School. Yana was well known for her helpful nature and good manners. Every morning, she walked to school with her best friend Ravi. They would happily chat about homework, games, and their favourite subjects. One afternoon, after school, Yana and Ravi went to the market to buy some notebooks. As they were passing by a fruit shop, Yana noticed a wallet lying on the road.

She quickly picked it up and looked around, but no one seemed to be searching for it. Curious, she carefully opened the wallet. Inside, there was a large amount of money, an identity card, and some important papers. Ravi's eyes widened. “Yana,” he whispered, “this money could help us buy new bags and toys!”

Yana felt confused. She knew the money did not belong to her. For a moment, she thought about how hard her parents worked and how useful the money could be. But deep inside, she knew what was right.

“We must find the owner,” Yana said firmly. They went to a nearby stationery shop and showed the wallet to Mr. Sharma, the shopkeeper. After looking at the identity card, he said, “This wallet belongs to a man who came here this morning. He must be very worried.” Mr. Sharma quickly called the phone number written on the card. Soon, a tired and anxious man rushed to the shop. When he saw his wallet, his face lit up with relief and happiness.

“Thank you so much!” he said gratefully. “This money was meant for my daughter's school fees. You have truly helped me.” Yana felt proud and peaceful inside. The next day, Mr. Sharma visited Yana's school and informed the principal about her honesty. During the morning assembly, the principal called Yana onto the stage and praised her in front of everyone.

Moral of the Story: Honesty and courage earn true respect and bring peace to the heart.

When the Fields Bloom: A Tribute to Our Farmers

When the first rays of the sun gently touch the earth, a farmer is already awake. His hands, rough like the soil he tills, carefully sow seeds of hope into the golden land. The open sky is his roof, the vast fields are his home, and the songs of birds are his morning music. With dedication and love, he works tirelessly—even when the sun burns fiercely or when the rain clouds refuse to appear. Every drop of his sweat turns into grains of life that fill our plates and nourish our hearts. Though his clothes may be simple, his spirit shines brighter than gold.

The green fields he nurtures are not just crops; they are dreams growing tall. Farmers teach us patience as they wait for seeds to sprout, courage as they face nature's challenges, and deep love for the earth that sustains us all. They are the silent heroes who feed the world without asking for praise or reward. Their hard work makes life possible and keeps the nation strong.

Let us salute our farmers — the true heroes who make life bloom and our country proud.

The Secret of the Magical Cookbook

Once upon a time, three best friends — Kelly, Hannah, and Derby — shared a love for cooking. Every day after school, they would gather in Kelly's kitchen to create unique and delicious dishes. Cooking was their favourite adventure. But Kelly had a secret worry. Her grandmother had been suffering from a strange spell. She could not speak, and no doctor could understand what was wrong. The family was deeply concerned. Unknown to most, Kelly's grandmother had once been a magical protector — someone who guarded powerful secrets.

On her grandmother's birthday, Kelly and her friends decided to bake a special cake. They prepared delicious brownies, but just before baking them, Kelly's mischievous little brother rushed in and spoiled the mixture. Angry, the girls chased him upstairs into the storeroom — a place their parents had strictly forbidden. While searching for him, an old dusty box fell from a shelf. Curious, Kelly opened it. Inside was a mysterious cookbook filled with strange recipe names like “Shut Them Up Shortcake,” “Bitter Truth Truffle,” and “Last-Ditch Layer Cake.” The girls laughed at the funny names, not realizing that the cookbook was magical.

Hannah whispered, “Maybe this is a sign. Let's try one recipe.” They chose “Shut Them Up Shortcake.” However, the recipe required a special spice they had never heard of. So, they visited Mama Peace, the wise shopkeeper who seemed to have everything. To their surprise, Mama Peace gave them the exact spice without hesitation — she too had once been a protector.

On their way home, they had to pass the house of Mrs. Silvers, a woman everyone feared. The girls hurried past, not knowing that Mrs. Silvers was also secretly a magical protector watching over them. Back home, they baked the shortcake carefully. That night, Kelly's brother secretly tasted a slice. The next morning, he woke up unable to speak! Kelly suddenly remembered the name — “Shut Them Up.” The girls realized the truth: the cookbook was magical, and they were now its new protectors.

Kelly wondered if her grandmother's silence was also caused by a spell. Using another recipe from the book, they worked carefully for weeks to create a cure. Finally, her grandmother regained her voice. The whole family was filled with joy. From that day on, Kelly, Hannah, and Derby promised to use the magical cookbook only for good. They helped people, solved problems, and never misused their powers. The three friends had discovered that true magic is not just in spells — it is in friendship, responsibility, and kindness. And so, their magical cooking adventures had only just begun.

Unsung Heroes of the Nation: Our Farmers

Farmers are the true backbone of our nation. They work tirelessly to grow the food that feeds millions of people every day. Yet, their hard work often goes unnoticed. Sometimes, people fail to realize that farmers are one of the main reasons for our survival and the strength of our country's economy.

Farming is not an easy task. Farmers work long hours under the hot sun and heavy rain. They face many challenges such as droughts, floods, soil problems, and crop diseases. Even after putting in so much effort, they often receive very low profits. For example, fruits and vegetables that farmers sell for ₹40 or ₹50 per kilogram are later sold in markets at much higher prices. Despite this unfair difference, farmers continue their work with patience and determination.

Their contribution to the nation is priceless. Because of farmers, we have enough food for our people and do not need to depend heavily on other countries for basic crops. In fact, India also exports agricultural products to other nations, which helps in increasing the country's income and boosting its economy. Farmers struggle day and night just to earn their livelihood and support their families. Their dedication, strength, and love for the land make them true heroes. We must respect them, support them, and understand the value of their hard work.

Let us stand by our farmers and appreciate their efforts, because when farmers grow, the nation grows.

A True Hero: Lessons from Havildar Bahadur Singh Bohra

My role model is Bahadur Singh Bohra, a brave soldier who inspires me with his courage and selflessness. He was awarded the prestigious Ashoka Chakra for his heroic actions during the 2017 Amarnath Yatra attack. His bravery and dedication to duty saved many innocent lives. What I admire most about him is his willingness to risk his own life to protect others. In a dangerous and fearful situation, he did not think about himself. Instead, he stood strong and fulfilled his responsibility as a soldier. His actions show that true courage is not about being fearless, but about facing challenges with determination and strength.

From his life, I have learned many important values. I have learned to always perform my duty sincerely, to be brave even in difficult situations, and to care for others with empathy. He teaches us that real heroes are those who put others before themselves. I aspire to follow his example in my daily life. I may not be on a battlefield, but I can show courage by standing up for what is right, helping others, and fulfilling my responsibilities honestly. I want to make a positive impact in my community just as he did for the nation.

Havildar Bahadur Singh Bohra's life reminds me that bravery, dedication, and selflessness are the true qualities of a hero.

वर्षा ऋतु

वर्षा ऋतु बहुत सुहावनी होती है। इस ऋतु में बादल काले हो जाते हैं और ठंडी हवा चलती है। आसमान में बिजली चमकती है और बादल गरजते हैं। कुछ बच्चे बारिश में खेलते हैं और कुछ बच्चे पानी के गड्ढों में कागज़ की नाव चलाते हैं। बारिश में मोर नाचता है। बारिश के बाद मौसम ठंडा और सुहावना हो जाता है। पेड़-पौधे हरे-भरे और ताज़ा दिखते हैं। मुझे वर्षा ऋतु बहुत पसंद है क्योंकि मौसम ठंडा और सुहावना हो जाता है।

बारिश का अनुभव

मेरा नया दोस्त

मोहन वगीचे में उदास बैठा था क्योंकि उसका कोई दोस्त नहीं था। तभी एक लड़का आया। उसका नाम राम था। राम ने कहा “तुम यहाँ अकेले क्यों बैठे हो?” मोहन ने कहा कि “मेरा कोई दोस्त नहीं है।” राम ने कहा कि “कोई बात नहीं आज से तुम मेरे दोस्त हो।” फिर दोनों ने साथ में खाना खाया, पानी पीया, गाना गाया, मीठी-मीठी बातें की और प्यारी-प्यारी चिड़िया देखी। बाद में वे दोनों खुशी-खुशी अपने घर चले गए और रोज़ शाम को खेलने लगे।

जंगल की कहानी

एक घने जंगल के पास एक ऊँचा पहाड़ था। उस जंगल में एक ताकतवर शेर और एक बड़ा हाथी रहते थे। दोनों अच्छे दोस्त थे। एक दिन सुबह का समय बहुत सुंदर था। जंगल के सभी जानवर खुशी से खेल रहे थे। थोड़ी देर बाद आकाश में काले बादल छा गए और तेज़ बारिश शुरू हो गई। अचानक ओले गिरने लगे। ओले गिरने से सभी जानवर डर गए और इधर-उधर भागने लगे। तभी शेर ने सबको पहाड़ पर बुलाया। शेर ने कहा, “सब लोग जल्दी से पहाड़ पर आ जाओ, यहाँ हम सुरक्षित रहेंगे।” सभी जानवर शेर की बात मानकर पहाड़ पर चले गए। वहाँ वे सुरक्षित थे। हाथी खुशी से नाचने लगा क्योंकि अब सब सुरक्षित थे। कुछ देर बाद बारिश और ओले रुक गए। फिर से आकाश साफ़ हो गया और सभी जानवर खुशी-खुशी अपने घर लौट गए।

प्रकृति का महत्त्व

प्रकृति मानव जीवन की सबसे बड़ी शक्ति और सहारा है। पृथ्वी पर रहनेवाले प्रत्येक जीव प्रत्यक्ष या अप्रत्यक्ष रूप से प्रकृति पर निर्भर करता है। यदि प्रकृति न हो तो जीवन की कल्पना भी नहीं की जा सकती। प्रकृति का हर तत्व हमारे जीवन में विशेष भूमिका निभाता है। पेड़ पौधे न केवल हमें ऑक्सीजन देते हैं बल्कि तापमान को संतुलित रखने में भी मदद करते हैं। नदियाँ और झरने जल का प्रमुख स्रोत हैं और कृषि के लिए अत्यंत आवश्यक है सूर्य हमें प्रकाश और ऊर्जा देता है, जिससे जीवन की सभी गतिविधियाँ संभव होती हैं। पर्वत, जंगल और समुद्र पर्यावरण को संतुलित रखने के साथ-साथ पृथ्वी की सुंदरता को भी बढ़ाता है। प्रकृति हमारे जीवन को सौंदर्य, ऊर्जा और आनंद से भरने वाली अमूल्य धरोहर है। हरे-भरे वृक्ष, खिले हुए पुष्प, शांत बहती नदियाँ और विस्तृत आकाश जीवन को मधुर अनुभूति प्रदान करते हैं। इसलिए कहा जाता है— क्षिति, जल, पावक, गगन, समीरा। पंचतत्त्व अति अद्भुत शरीर। इसका अर्थ है कि मनुष्य का शरीर 5 तत्वों से मिलकर बना है— पृथ्वी, जल, अग्नि, आकाश और वायु।

स्वस्थ शरीर का मंत्र : 'व्यायाम'

स्वस्थ शरीर के लिए व्यायाम सबसे बड़ा मंत्र है। स्वस्थ शरीर मन को शांत करता है। प्रतिदिन तीस मिनट का शारीरिक व्यायाम शरीर को स्वस्थ बनाता है। शरीर को स्वस्थ और ऊर्जावान बनाने के लिए सुबह सबसे पहले भस्त्रिका या अनुलोम-विलोम जैसे प्राणायाम और सूक्ष्म व्यायाम जैसे टहलना सर्वोत्तम माना जाता है। व्यायाम मन को प्रसन्न और तनावमुक्त रखता है। व्यायाम जैसे कि चलना, दौड़ना, योगासन हमें तनाव मुक्त रखता है। व्यायाम और योगासन हड्डियाँ और मांसपेशियों को मज़बूत करते हैं और वजन को नियंत्रित रखते हैं। व्यायाम करने से हृदय रोग और कैंसर जैसी बड़ी बीमारियों से बच सकते हैं। व्यायाम हमारी रोग प्रतिरोधक शक्ति को बढ़ाता है। व्यायाम और स्वास्थ्य एक दूसरे से जुड़े हुए हैं। स्वस्थ जीवनशैली के लिए नियमित व्यायाम अत्यंत आवश्यक है। स्वस्थ शरीर ही मानव का सबसे बड़ा धर्म है। व्यायाम करने से आलस दूर होता है। व्यायाम करने से अच्छी नींद आती है। शरीर को स्वस्थ और तनावमुक्त रखने के लिए हमें हर रोज़ व्यायाम करना चाहिए। स्वस्थ शरीर ही सुखी जीवन का आधार है और नियमित व्यायाम इसका सबसे बड़ा मंत्र है।

त्योहारों का अपना आनंद

हमारे जीवन में त्योहारों का बहुत महत्व होता है। त्योहार हम सभी के मन को खुशियों से भर देते हैं। हमारे देश में हर त्योहार बहुत ही धूमधाम से मनाया जाता है। दिवाली, ईद, होली, क्रिसमस, दशहरा जैसे त्योहार खुशियाँ लेकर आते हैं। त्योहार हमारे नीरस जीवन को खिल उठाने का मौका देते हैं। त्योहार के समय स्कूल, कॉलेज ऑफिस बंद रहते हैं ताकि सभी खुशियाँ मना सकें। त्योहार हमें एक-दूसरे के समीप लाते हैं और सबके दिल के मैल को दूर करते हैं। त्योहार में लोग एक-दूसरे को दिल से शुभकामनाएँ देते हैं। भारत को त्योहारों का देश कहा जाता है। भारत में हर वर्ष सभी त्योहार बहुत उत्साह और खुशी के साथ मनाए जाते हैं।

“त्योहार भरते हैं उत्साह में,

नीरसता मिटाने को जीवन की,
हम मनाते होली-ईद-क्रिसमस।”

त्योहारों का अपना आनंद

त्योहारों का अपना ही आनंद होता है। सभी त्योहारों की अपनी खुशी और महत्व है। त्योहार जीवन में प्रेम, उल्लास, खुशियाँ और एकता लाते हैं। भारत में सभी त्योहार का अपना एक विशेष महत्व होता है। यहाँ सभी धर्म के लोग अपना त्योहार मिल-जुलकर एक साथ मनाते हैं। भारत में मनाए जाने वाले त्योहार तीन प्रकार के होते हैं। धार्मिक त्योहार, राष्ट्रीय त्योहार और ऋतुओं के त्योहार होते हैं। धार्मिक त्योहार जैसे कि होली, दीपावली, दशहरा, रक्षाबंधन, ईद, क्रिसमस आदि। राष्ट्रीय त्योहार में स्वतंत्रता दिवस, गणतंत्र दिवस और गांधी जयंती जैसे दिवस मनाए जाते हैं। मौसमी त्योहार में मकर संक्रांति, वैशाखी, लोहड़ी, ओणम और पोंगल जैसे त्योहार मनाए जाते हैं। त्योहार पर सभी लोग विशेष पकवान और मिठाई बनाते हैं। दीपावली के त्योहार पर नए कपड़े, स्वादिष्ट, पकवान, घरों की सजावट, रंगोली बनाना और उपहारों का आदान-प्रदान पूरे माहौल को आनंदमय बना देते हैं। होली में सभी बड़े, बच्चे और युवा रंगों से खेलते हैं। गुलाल और अवीर से पूरा माहौल रंगीन हो जाता है। मकर संक्रांति में पूरा आसमान रंग-विरंगी पतंगों से भर जाता है। इस दिन तिल और गुड़ के लड्डू खाने और वाँटने की परम्परा है। रक्षाबंधन भाई-बहन के प्यार का प्रतीक है। दशहरा को विजया दशमी भी कहा जाता है। यह त्योहार हमें सिखाता है कि अच्छाई की हमेशा बुराई पर जीत होती है। इस तरह त्योहारों का अपना विशेष महत्व है। यह त्योहार हमारी संस्कृति और परंपराओं से हमें परिचित कराते हैं। इसीलिए मुझे हर त्योहार बहुत पसंद है।

एक दिन बिना मोबाइल के

एक दिन मोबाइल के बिना बिताना आज के डिजिटल युग में एक साहसिक चुनौती से कम नहीं है। मोबाइल फोन अब हमारे जीवन का एक हिस्सा बन चुका है। सुबह उठते ही हमें मोबाइल चाहिए होता है। एक दिन मैंने सोचा कि पूरा दिन मोबाइल नहीं देखूँगा। दिन भर मैंने मोबाइल नहीं देखा और बगीचे में घूमने चला गया। वहाँ पक्षियों की मधुर आवाज़ सुनकर मुझे मन की शांति मिली। फिर मैं घर आया और अपने परिवार के साथ समय बिताया। हम लोगों ने बहुत सारी बातें करी और साथ में नाश्ता किया। दोपहर को मैंने थोड़ी पढ़ाई की। उसके बाद मैंने अपने पसंदीदा विषय के चित्र बनाए। शाम को मैं अपने दोस्तों के साथ खेलने गया। मुझे बहुत मज़ा आया। इतना आनंद मुझे मोबाइल के खेल में भी नहीं आता था।

मुझे एक बात समझ में आई कि हमें मोबाइल का कम उपयोग करना चाहिए। हमें अपना समय पढ़ाई, खेल-कूद और परिवार के साथ बिताना चाहिए। हमें मोबाइल का जितना हो सके उतना कम उपयोग करना चाहिए।

पेड़ हमारे जीवन का एक महत्वपूर्ण हिस्सा है। बिना पेड़ों के पृथ्वी पर जीवन की कल्पना करना भी मुश्किल है। पेड़ हमें शुद्ध हवा, भोजन, छाया और लकड़ी प्रदान करते हैं। वे वातावरण को स्वच्छ रखते हैं और धरती को हरा-भरा बनाते हैं। पेड़ मिट्टी को बाँधकर रखते हैं और बाढ़ व मिट्टी के कटाव को रोकते हैं। पीपल, नीम जैसे पेड़ औषधीय गुणों से भरपूर होते हैं। हमारे दैनिक जीवन में पेड़ों का उपयोग बहुत अधिक है। फलों के पेड़ हमें पौष्टिक फल देते हैं, जबकि कई पेड़ों से दवाइयाँ बनाई जाती हैं। ग्रामीण क्षेत्रों में लोग पेड़ों की छाया में बैठकर आराम करते हैं। कई पक्षी पेड़ों पर अपना घर बनाते हैं। पेड़ प्रकृति को सुंदर बनाते हैं और हमें शांति का अनुभव कराते हैं। आज के समय में बढ़ती जनसंख्या और औद्योगीकरण के कारण पेड़ों की कटाई तेजी से हो रही है। इससे पर्यावरण का संतुलन बिगड़ रहा है और ग्लोबल वार्मिंग जैसी समस्याएँ बढ़ रही हैं। इसलिए हमें अधिक से अधिक पेड़ लगाने चाहिए और उनकी रक्षा करनी चाहिए। अंत में यही कहा जा सकता है कि पेड़ हमारे जीवन का आधार हैं। यदि हम आज पेड़ों को बचाएँगे, तो आने वाली पीढ़ियों का भविष्य सुरक्षित रहेगा। इसलिए “पेड़ लगाओ, जीवन बचाओ” हमारा जीवन का संकल्प होना चाहिए।

जब मैं पहली बार मंच पर गया

मेरी पाठशाला के वार्षिक समारोह में मैं पहली बार मंच पर गया। शुरुआत में मुझे बहुत डर लग रहा था। मंच पर जाने से पहले मैं घबरा रहा था, लेकिन मेरे शिक्षक ने मेरा हौसला बढ़ाया। मेरे दिल की धड़कन तेज़ हो रही थी और मेरे हाथ-पाँव काँप रहे थे। फिर भी मैंने साहस जुटाया और मंच पर चला गया। जैसे ही मैं मंच पर गया, मैंने देखा कि मेरे सामने बहुत सारे लोग बैठे हुए थे। पहले तो मैं थोड़ा घबरा गया। फिर मैंने गहरी साँस ली और अपना अभिनय शुरू कर दिया। जब मैंने अपना अभिनय पूरा किया और मंच से नीचे उतरा, तो मुझे बहुत खुशी हुई। दर्शकों ने ताली बजाकर मेरा उत्साह बढ़ाया। मंच पर जाने का वह पहला अनुभव मेरे लिए बहुत यादगार और प्रेरणादायक था। उस दिन मैंने सीखा कि डर पर विजय कैसे प्राप्त की जाती है। यह अनुभव मुझे हमेशा याद रहेगा और जीवन में आगे बढ़ने के लिए प्रेरित करता रहेगा।

पेड़ हमारे जीवन का हिस्सा

प्रकृति ने हमें अनेक अनमोल उपहार दिए हैं, जिनमें पेड़-पौधे सबसे महत्वपूर्ण हैं। पेड़ हमारे जीवन का अभिन्न हिस्सा हैं। उनके बिना पृथ्वी पर जीवन की कल्पना करना भी असंभव है। जिस प्रकार हमारे शरीर के लिए साँस लेना आवश्यक है, उसी प्रकार पर्यावरण के लिए पेड़ों का होना भी जरूरी है। पेड़ों का सबसे बड़ा योगदान ऑक्सीजन प्रदान करना है। पेड़ वातावरण से कार्बन डाइऑक्साइड को सोख लेते हैं और हमें ऑक्सीजन देते हैं। पेड़ों का महत्व केवल हवा तक ही सीमित नहीं है। वे हमें फल, फूल, औषधियाँ, लकड़ी और छाया प्रदान करते हैं। हमारे दैनिक जीवन की लगभग हर छोटी-बड़ी चीज़ पेड़ों से जुड़ी हुई है। वैज्ञानिक दृष्टि से देखें तो पेड़ मिट्टी के कटाव को रोकते हैं और वर्षा लाने में सहायक होते हैं। कड़कती धूप में वे हमें ठंडक देते हैं। साथ ही, अनगिनत पक्षियों और जीव-जंतुओं के लिए पेड़ आश्रय स्थल भी होते हैं। मनुष्य अपनी सुख-सुविधाओं के लिए पेड़ों की अंधाधुंध कटाई कर रहा है, जिसके परिणामस्वरूप ग्लोबल वार्मिंग जैसी गंभीर समस्याएँ उत्पन्न हो रही हैं। सुरक्षित और स्वस्थ भविष्य के लिए हमें पेड़ों की रक्षा करनी चाहिए और अधिक से अधिक वृक्षारोपण करना चाहिए। “पेड़ धरा के भूषण हैं, करते दूर प्रदूषण हैं।”

एक दिन बिना मोबाइल के

एक सुबह मैंने बिना मोबाइल के दिन बिताने का निश्चय किया। सुबह जागकर मैंने अपने माता-पिता के साथ बैठकर बातें कीं और नाश्ता किया। मोबाइल न होने से घर का माहौल शांत और सुखद लग रहा था। नाश्ते के बाद मैंने अपनी किताबें ध्यान से पढ़ीं और गृहकार्य पूरा किया। पढ़ाई करते समय मेरा मन एकाग्र रहा। शाम को मैंने घर के कामों में माँ की मदद की और परिवार के साथ समय बिताया। मुझे शांति और खुशी महसूस हुई। रात को मैं समय पर सो गई और सुबह जल्दी जाग गई। मुझे समझ आया कि बिना मोबाइल के भी जीवन सरल और आनंदमय हो सकता है। इससे मन शांत रहता है और समय का सही उपयोग होता है।

जब मैं पहली बार मंच पर गया

जब मैं पहली बार स्कूल के कार्यक्रम में मंच पर गया तो मैंने देखा कि मेरे सामने बड़ी संख्या में लोग बैठे थे। जिन में मेरे शिक्षक और सहपाठी भी थे। मंच पर खड़े होकर मैंने अपने भाषण की शुरुआत की। सभी लोग मुझे ध्यान से सुन रहे थे, जिससे मुझे बहुत अच्छा महसूस हुआ। जब मेरा भाषण खत्म हुआ, तो लोगों ने तालियाँ बजाईं। उस समय मैं बहुत खुशी और गर्व महसूस कर रहा था। मेरी शिक्षिका ने मुझे मुस्कुराते हुए बधाई दी, जिससे मेरा आत्मविश्वास बहुत बढ़ गया। वह अनुभव मेरे लिए बहुत खास था क्योंकि यह मेरे लिए एक अवसर था, खुद को साबित करने का और अपनी बात को लोगों के सामने रखने का। उस समय मेरे चेहरे पर एक अलग सी चमक थी। मंच पर पहली बार जाना मेरे लिए सिर्फ एक कार्यक्रम नहीं था, बल्कि यह मेरे आत्मविश्वास और हिम्मत की शुरुआत बन गया। आज भी जब मैं उस दिन को याद करता हूँ, तो मुझे वही गर्व और खुशी महसूस होती है।

પહાડ જેના પિતા, પતિ જેના સાગર એટલે નદી. જે ખળખળ કરતી આગળ વધે છે. નદીનું પાણી મીઠું અને સૌને ઉપયોગી છે. નદી ગામ અને શહેરમાં વહેતી આગળ વધે છે. નદી લોકમાતા ગણાય છે કારણ કે તે લોકોને માતાની જેમ જીવન જીવવા જળ આપે છે. સાથે ખેતી માટે પાણી, જળચર પ્રાણીઓ માટે રહેવા માટે સ્થળ આપે છે. આથી આપણે નદીના ઉપકારો ભૂલવા ન જોઈએ. એને સ્વચ્છ રાખવી જોઈએ.
